FIRE AND LIFE.

CAPITAL TWO MILLIONS STERLING.

This important company, in many respects the greatest of its kind in the present age, has appointed an agency in this city. The head-offices are in London and Liverpool with branches in Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Manchester, Bristol, Birmingham, Sheffield, Leeds, Newcastle, Southampton, Montreal, Toronto and other cities.

The ROYAL is remarkable; for the promptitude and liberality of its settlements: for the largest life bonuses (£2 per cent per annum) ever continuously declared during 15 years by any Co.; for the enormous extent of its transactions, shewing £'00,000 in new life assurances for 1862, and a Fire revenue of £300,000 per annum; for its security, which has given rise to the proverb "as safe as the Royal;" for the accumulated funds in hand, over one million sterling; for its annual income, over half-a-million sterling; and for the correct calculation of its mortality tables. Hence the English press of all countries, including over 95 leading papers, speaks in the highest terms of this company.

The report for 1862 shews that all the property of the Co. amounting to £846,070 is real and substantial property: the amount now exceeds one million sterling. The increase, during 14 years, on Fire business was 900 per cent, and on Life 1350 per cent.

Messrs. H. A. GREEN and Co. are authorised to issue policies for Fire and Life to a very large amount, at moderate premiums, the Co. being anxious to extend its foreign business, which already shews an annual revenue of £200,000. Life claims can be settled without reference to England. For further particulars please apply to

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1864.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was a sad day in town; the awful accident at the Retiro barracks, and the melancholy collision on the railroad, threw a gloom over the city. The full particulars of these lamentable accidents will be found in another column.

We learn from a gentleman who arrived in the Herschell from Rio that the state of affairs in that city is truly frightful, commercial matters are at a complete stand-still, and the condition of Rio can only be termed as a general bankruptcy. No man knows whom to trust, and the treasury is without a single mil-rei. People in Rio Janeyro, our informant states, laugh at the idea of Brazil going to war, as the Government has neither men nor money.

The pic-nic of the American Sunday-school came off on Thursday at San Isidro: it was not so well attended as usual, owing to the very limited invitations sent round. We are happy to say that the children enjoyed themselves to their hearts' contents beneath the shady willows at the port of San Isidro.

The Government has received notice of an intended Indian invasion in the South. The estancieros have all joined together for mutual protection, and will not this time be taken unawares. The troops at Azul and Tandil are on the alert, but it is feared they are not sufficiently numerous to do much harm to the invaders.

The two Brazilian gun-boats which left port about a week ago to ascend the Parana, have only got as far as Martin Garcia. We understand that the excuse for their not going any further is that the river is too low. We hardly can believe this, since vessels drawing much more water than these gunboats are constantly going up and down the river. We fear that the coal hulk will be gone or scuttled if the Brazilians don't look sharp. The steamers Igurey, Paraguari, and Salto de Guayra are being fitted out as war-vessels, we hear, and probably the next news we have of them be will the storming of Coyuba. One of the officers in command, Sor. Herreros, is a thorough English sailor, having served for many years under an English captain.

The Mauá Bank, we hear, has ceased to make any further advances to the Oriental Government. This will prove a serious loss to the Government, as the Mauá Bank has been the best friend the Government had during the present lamentable struggle.

The captive President of Matto Grosso it appears is a man of no small importance in his own country, although apparently thought very little about in in Asuncion; he is a member of the house of parliament and a very influential mau; he and his fellow passengers are kept close prisoners on board the Marques de Olinda, and get their victuals each day from the town; he will probably be kept there until some of the gunboats go up to his rescue, which will not be very soon, owing to the low state of the river.

In Belgrano the fashionable game of "croquet" is about to be introduced. As it is a game at which ladies [illegible] ling. We caution our subscribers from walking near it, as we hardly know which way it will fall, it is so crooked.

Since the foundation stone of Buenos Ayres was laid, there never was a better time for hotel keepers; every room and bed in all the principal hotels is occupied, and if we had half a dozen more buildings similar to the Hotel de la Paix, we believe they would all be occupied. The number of strangers in town is extraordinary.

The Tigré, after all, promises to be the great steamboat landing of Buenos Ayres. Only the other day we called attention to the fact that the new steamer, Estrella del Norte, would start from there; and now we hear of some six other steamers about to follow her example.

Gen. Paunero attended the cricket match on Thursday, and seemed to take great interest in the game. He states that the Indians play a game very similar, which he has frequently seen played in the Pampas.

Minister Paranhos and President Mitre's speeches, on the occasion of the reception of the former, are notable documents: they simply amount to this, the Brazilian envoy hints that things are beginning to look very complicated, and the President requests him to keep cool.

Mr. Rom, the secretary of the Bolsa, has very kindly promised to lend us the various samples of wool, cotton, and woods which he has at his office, to send to the Dublin Exhibition. We cannot too highly praise Mr. Rom's extreme readiness to do anything to further the interests of the country. We have every hope, that we will be able to send home a very respectable collection of Argentine productions. Several of the principal estancieros are giving us samples of their wool, which, we have no doubt, will be objects of attraction to the many visitors at the forthcoming Exhibition. Our old fossil whalebones are now on exhibition in Dublin, and many people, who never thought about Buenos Ayres before, are now studying the river Plate.

The 'River Plate Magazine' was delivered yesterday. We will review it to-morrow.

A very important farniture auction comes off to-day at Mr. William Coolman's, No. 287 Calle Victoria. We advise all who want tr buy house furniture cheap to attend.

AWFUL CATASTROPHE.

GUNPOWDER EXPLOSION.

FRIGHTFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

Yesterday morning one of those melancholy accidents which we so frequently read of, but happily so seldom experience in Buenos Ayres, occurred at the Retiro barracks. At about 7.30 [illegible] the soldiers were returning [illegible]ise, several cases of gun-p[illegible]d [illegible]ch were in a room of the barrck were about to be removed, when suddenly, through the carelessness of one of the soldiers who was smoking, a spark caught the powder, and in an instant half the barrack and two entire companies were in the air. The sh[illegible] was so great that it was felt distinctly in Barracas, and the houses in the neigborhood of the Retiro were seriously damaged, and some of them even unroofed.

Mr. Bliss, who inspecten the scene of woe, favored us with the following particulars.

Yesterday morning at about 7½ a.m the northern portion of the city was startled by a sudden rumbling and trembling of the ground as by an earthquake; doors flew open and shut and fragments of brick and mortar flew through the air. The startled people betook themselves to the streets to ascertain the cause, and it was quickly known that a large portion of [illegible] Retiro barracks was in [illegible] magazine had exp[illegible] of a large [illegible]

Recoleta, where they were kept under a guard. At 11 we went to the Recoleta and obtained notices from the superintendent, who kindly furnished us with materials for writing. He stated that the cemetery actually had not the means to bury so many in one day, and that there was scarcely room for them, without burying them en masse in the trenches.

The loss of life was not limited to the soldiers, fragments of bodies of women and children have also been collected.

The Administrator, Don Felix Maria Sanshez, of the cemetery, desires us to express in strong terms the absolute necessity of more efficient provision for the burial of the city's dead, and to exhibit the criminal neglect of the municipality, as evidenced by this sad example. Is it not disgraceful that for a city like Buenos Ayres there should be but one cemetery, where all the classes of dead are indiscriminately carried, and where on an occasion like this the servants are not one-fourth numerous enough, and where the superintendent has had to take hold with his own hands.

What will it be when some epidemic like the cholera or yellow fever will sweep away the population by thousands in a week.

We learn that all the spare ground in the cemetery is the property of a single man (Sr. Fernandez) who makes his profit by retailing at exorbitant prices the vaults and spots for burial, instead of the land being as it should be municipal property and under an efficient and econominal administration.

The service of the cemetery is of only six men, but at the request of the superintendent, a sergeant and nine men were sent from the police. The superintendent requested from General Nazar a force of soldiers to keep guard during the day and night.

The ordinary number of burials is 18 or 20.

Immdiately after the event, Sr. Achinelli, connected with the funeral service, 'Empreza Porteña' of Dn. Lauro Cabral, presented himself to Dr. Rawson, and to the Chief of Police, offering gratis the services of the coaches, &c. for removing the dead, an act which certainly merits the most honorable mention.

Commissary O'Gorman, on the part Sr. Cazon, came to the cemetery to learn what was necessary, and 16 men were sent from the Artillery by the 7th Section of Police.

Office of the Recoleta Cemetery,
12 o'clock, Dec. 9.

At this moment I have come from viewing the 26 corpses of the soldiers killed by the explosion. They lie stretched upon the ground, half-naked, face upward, and broiling in the sun, near the south-western corner of the cemetery, in a nook between the Catalonian vault and the wall. Twenty-six robust, brawny men, who five hours ago were living, healthful soldiers, and are now many of them so torn into fragments, as to be unrecognisable by the mothers who bore them, and already the prey of millions of flies. Here they lie, ghastly white, with their wounds open, so shattered into fragments, as not to leave a singe member whole: three or four were brought wrapped up in their ponchos. They were all nearly naked, but there were a number of their ponchos lying on one side, and I took hold of them with my own hands to cover them up, giving directions to the peons standing around.

Up to the hour of noon, no representative of the native press had visited the cemetery.

A similar event took place in Buenos Ayres, some 130 years ago, the day of San Nemesio, at what is now known as the Convalescencia. It was antec, as the talk of the crowd in the Retiro.

The iron railing in front of the barrack has been smashed into small pieces and scattered in the streets; and the bricks thrown across the plaza are so numerous as to impede transit.

President Mitre was on the ground at an early hour, and displayed the greatest concern for the wounded. The Doctors mustered strong, and every coach on the Plaza was secured for the transportation of the wounded.

An English gentleman, who was standing on the azotea of the reading rooms in calle Mayo, saw the volume of smoke ascending in the air, and felt the roof shaking under his feet. He describes the sight as truly awful.

Late last night the excavations were still going on, in the hope of extricating some more bodies. We understand that the muster-role, when called over, was short 126.

In the powder deposit, the explosion of which caused such a lamentable disaster, there were stored some 540 cartridges for 6 lbs. cannon balls, 6,670 musket cartridges, and a quantity of caps.

Captain Badia was saved by almost a miracle, having been buried two yards under the debris, but was fortunately protected by some planks forming an arch as they fell over his head.

Lieutenant Salvadores was not so lucky, but his wounds are slight.

Two childen of eight or nine years of age, who had disappeared in the ruins, have been rescued without having been injured.

The seats in the Plaza Retiro were almost all shattered, and many window-panes in the neighborhood were broken by the concussion.

The roof of the house of our pressman, living close to the Retiro, was considerably injured.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF B. AYRES.

The undersigned editors of the 'Nacion Argentina,' 'Tribuna,' 'Nacional,' 'Standard,' 'Progres,' and 'Imparcial Espanol,' solicit from the residents of Buenos Ayres, both foreign and native, a subscription for the families of the unfortunate victims who perished at the Retiro explosion.

The subscriptions for this truly charitable purpose, will be received at the offices of the different newspapers above mentioned.

THE GREAT CRICKET MATCH.

OUR CLUB TRIUMPHANT.

On Thursday, the long-talked of 'cricket match,' between the Eleven of All Buenos Ayres, and the Bombay officers, came off. At an early hour the tents were pitched, and in the cool of the morning the refreshments were sent out. The weather looked very threatening about 9 o'clock a.m.; but nothing daunted, the players were on the ground punctually at the appointed hour. At half-past ten the wickets were pitched, and the game, which resulted so favorably for Buenos Ayres, began.

Until about twelve o'clock, the number of spectators was limited, but the half-past 12 train brought the Anglo-Argentine fashion in hundreds. At 2 o'clock, the grounds presented a most enlivening scene: magnificently-dressed ladies, reclining beneath the shade of Palermo willows; carriages arriving each moment, and taking up their [illegible] wires; and last, [illegible] tent crowded [illegible] many of [illegible] city

Mr. Darbyshire's bowling was straight on the wicket, and told with astonishing effect, no less than five wickets falling victims to his skill as bowler. The fielding in this innings was very creditable to the club, and was ably assisted by the wicket-keeping of Mr. Parish.

The Buenos Ayreans then went in, but here again, strange to say, the crack-players got out very soon, many of them gaining the unenviable score of nothing. The bowling of Messrs. Lang and Trollope was much admired and very effective, and the fielding showed that the Eleven had made the best use of their experience along the coast of South America. For the Buenos Ayrean side, Messrs. Elliot, J. Darbyshire, E. Simpson, and F. Jacobs, contributed well to the score, the playing of the two latter especially being subject of general remarks.

The side was got out for 66 runs, and the Bombay men immediately went in for their second innings, when they were more successful scoring 58 runs: Two very good catches were made by Messrs. Elliott and Jacobs, and there was some very pretty batting made by the navy men.

The state of the game at this juncture showed that 16 runs were wanting to complete the victory for B. Ayres, and these were soon made, leaving nine wickets to go down on the side of the club,

As the match was over early, the sides returned to the wickets for another innings each, in which the Bombay gained the victory.

In our next impression we shall give the detailed score, together with the particulars of both games.

After the playing the cricketers adjourned to the Cosmopolita, where a splendid dinner had been prepared for them and their friends. During the "sederunt" many loyal toasts and speeches were given, and the party separated at about 11 p.m., all delighted with the brilliant "exit" of the day's sport.

The graceful lady of our popular Consul, at the termination of the great cricket match, crowned Mr. Trollope, of the Bombay Eleven, with a beautiful white satin wreath, decorated with flowers—the ceremony was interesting and the honor deserved. Yesterday we were visited by one of the officers of the Bombay, who expressed to us the gratitude of himself and brother officers for the kindness and hospitality shown them since their arrival in Buenos Ayres. They leave this morning at 9 o'clock for their ship, which is lying in the harbor of Montevideo.

LAMENTABLE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

TERRIBLE COLLISION.

On Thursday night the most fatal accident that has occurred on the Western line since its inauguration took place. The up-train from Lujan laden with excursionists and passengers, ran right slap bang into an empty down train which left the Parque at 9.30 a.m.

The engine-driver of the passenger train, it is said, when he saw the other train approaching, whistled for the other to stop, but all to no purpose, the shock was so great that the trains receded from the effects five squares, but luckily did not run off the line. The confusion among the paasengers was terrific—the surprise and the blows from the splinters of the first car flying in all directions, alarmed every one; one guard was struck dead, and some twenty passengers injured.

On this same morning a train got off the line at Moreno, but fortunately no one was hurt.

ALARMING NEWS FROM THE PROVINCES.

There seems to be some truth in the rumors which for the last few days have been current through town, for we perceive the "Nacion Argentina," which is the Government organ, at[illegible] the greatest importance to the [illegible]igh arrived in the Para[illegible] General Urquiza [illegible]

Pascual Rosas landed in Parana, having returned from Paraguay, and it is said was burthened with a quantity of despatches for certain parties in the interior provinces.

In Paraná the people are less guarded than in Buenos Ayres, and they openly talk of the probabilities of a revolution. Some man named Molinas, it is said, is preparing a revolution in Corrientes in the hopes of upsetting Gov. Lagrana's government and installing himself.

The foregoing items, with which we were acquainted, but disbelieved, the "Nacion Argenttna" corroborates, but there are other items which our colleague is probably ignorant of, and which leaves no doubt whatever that an attempt to revolutionize this unhappy country is brewing.

Greatly as we condemn the system of abusing our neighbors, and countenancing revolutionary movements such as the Flores rebellion, we cannot withhold from using all the influence at our command to repress any attempt to disturb the present Governmet or create a rebellion in the Argentine Republic.

President Mitre's Government has, no doubt, committed some grave sins of omission; but it is essential that it should be supported by every inhabitant in the country, as no limits can be put to the misfortunes of the river Plate, should the National Government of the Republic fall.

It is right that the Government should be aware that letters have been received from Paraguay which leave no doubt whatever that war, and nothing but war, is intended; and, if we are rightly informed, Lopez Jordan and Vivasoro, two very influential men, are at present in command of part of the Paraguayan forces.

In Cordova, and some of the other provinces, the enemies of the Government are at work; and if they fail to incite a rebellion, it will be less from any love which the Arribeños have for President Mitre than their disgust of any further fighting.

In Rosario, which is, after Buenos Ayres, the most important town in the Republic, disguise it as they may, there is a general wish for a row, in the vain hope that the capital will be removed from Buenos Ayres, and located up there.

Calmly looking at the present state of affairs, experienced persons are of opinion that there is only wanting some impolitic step, on the part of the President, such as an alliance with Brazil, to fan the embers of revolution into a blaze.

We need hardly remind our readers that more than 12 months ago we foretold this would be the upshot of the Flores' revolution, if permitted to go on. The fire is now spreading, and, the flames, ere long, will be wafted across the Urugnay and Parana.

In such a critical moment, and with dangers so imminent, let us not waste precious time in lamenting over the past but rather look out for the future. Let us give up the task of regenerating the Banda Oriental and Paraguay, and concern ourselves with our own affairs. Rosario, Parana, and Corrientes must be at once garrisoned, and a few hundred good soldiers thrown into Cordova. Caudillos, or influential men, such as Urquiza, Taboado, and others, must be secured. An army must be organized as speedily as possible, and only entrusted to competent and reliable officers — the Minister of War is unpopular, he should be removed and Gen. Paunero, who is an active and experienced officer, put in his place. Inflammatory tirades against our neighbors, which only whet their animosity, avoided, in a word, a more conservative system of government, and a more conciliatory policy henceforward adopted.

GREAT NEWS FROM CATAMARCA.

MORE GOLD AND SILVER.

NO MINERS.

The last news from the provinces is [illegible] of a favorable character for [illegible] preserve an interest in our [illegible]alth. In San Juan the gold [illegible] continues, and parties of [illegible] crossing the Cordillera. The [illegible]out the ownership of the [illegible]n to cause a revolution [illegible]up and judges delay the [illegible] most important feature [illegible]owever, the recent dis coveries in Catamarca. Several veins of pure gold have been met with and pounced upon, but as usual the owner of the ground has laid claim to the whole digging, and until he thinks proper to explore the hidden wealth of the rocks, there the gold remains. Still there are gangs of independent miners going about who, if they come across loose gold, wont stop to ask permission to take it up.

The silver mines in Catamarca are at present giving better returns than those of San Juan, and many persons assert that if the Government of Catamarca would only pass a law giving liberty to all to mine on their own account, no matter on whose ground, the inexhaustible wealth hidden in the bowels of Catamarca would be developed.

The miners from Chile have been very successful at some of the San veins, but all the precious metal finds its way to Santiago or Valparaiso in preference to Buenos Ayres, owing to the dangers of the Indians on the roads in this Republic.

IMPORTANT LETTER ON THE ORIENTAL QUESTION.

The opponents of the Colorados, to whom is given the name of Blancos, are the remainder of the people, and amongst them are to be found those men in the Republic who are most respected for their knowledge, for their enlightenment, for their exalted probity. Whenever they have had the governing power they have proved themselves to be progressists at heart. The country owes to them whatever is to be found in it. The others (the Colorados) are the representatives of barbarism and retrogression, though they assert the contrary; the fact of their being always dependent on gaucho caudillos proves that their liberalism is false. Nevertheless, this faction would never have been able to do anything against the liberty, the life, and the property of our citizens and of the foreigners who, by their possessions, form part of this community; and its partisans would have had to mingle with the rest of their countrymen, every one pursuing that course for which he was best qualified, if the Governments of Brazil and Buenos Ayres had not at all times been disposed to lend their co-operation, more or less openly, to all that could create turbulence and disorder in this country.

The Brazilian Government imitating as much as possible that of Russia, is desirous of extending its possessions as far as the Rio de la Plata. Montevideo is her Constantinople. For this end she undertook its conquest in the year 1816, and maintained a ruinous war up to 1828;—for the same object she has countenanced the pretensions of Brazilian subjects who have established themselves in the Banda Oriental and taken wrongful possession of lands, selling them sometimes to their legitimate owners, and at others usurping a right to the property of the States. This is the origin of innumerable complaints, and of ill-will on the part of those persons who look to the Brazilian Government, as their natural protector, to support them in their usurpations; and thus it is that that Government claims to have an interest in all our administrative measures, entailing immense labor upon our Minister for Foreign Affairs, who is obliged to combat every movement arising out of these pretensions.

Brazil does not, therefore, wish to see a Government solidly established, and for this reason it has on all occasions, though apparently maintaining a strict neutrality, promoted every attempt against the internal order of this country and others, by making, as in the present case, a great number of frivolous or fictitious reclamations, in order to create difficulties for the Government, and in order to oblige it to second its views of absorption. The object of Brazil is to cause those people who have something to lose, seeing the insecurity of peace, to seek her protection. Thereupon the Brazilians would return to repeat the scenes of the conquest;—that is to say, to effect the absorption of the State by Brazil, to be followed by the reintroduction of that slavery which it has cost us so many sacrifices to extirpate, and all the other evils which would result in consequence to the commerce of the world; then Brazil, without exaggerating, has protectionist duties, impost being levied upon importation ranging from 30, 50, 75 and 80 per cent., as may be seen by reference to its tariffs. The exportation of the Empire is also heavily burdened with national and provincial duties on arbitrary tariffs, established half-yearly by the fiscal employés, and on which no comment or observation is permitted. This monstrous system has impoverished the provinces of the Empire, with the exception of the capital, in the adornment and diversion of which large sums of money are expended. Poverty has produced a general discontent, which would have already overthrown the monarchy, had not the spectable of civil and chronic war been presented in the South American Republics, not a little attributable to the policy of Brazil, and especially so in this country. Various are the advantages which Brazil derives from this state of things. The Brazilians are retained in subjection to the Imperial sceptre by the terror of anarchy; the pacific inhabitants of the neighboring Republics are disgusted with the system under which they are governed; the population and commerce, and consequently the fiscal revenues of the province of Rio Grande, are placed in a condition which, though exceptional and therefore transitory, selves to render the inhabitants contented, and to distract them from political preoccupation; and, finally, the way is prepared for the ultimate incorporation of the Estado Oriental, despite the treaties which guarantee its independence. The proofs of the dissimulating influence of Brazil in our civil struggles are found in the relatorioe which the Imperial Minister for Foreign Affairs presents every year to the General Assembly.—London and River Plate Mail.

The business on 'Change to-day was of a most limited character and brokers and merchants were occupied in discussing the details of the sad accident at the Retiro. The railway accident was also talked of and the manager strongly censured for the loose regulations on the road.

In exchange we notice a number of French drawers, with slight disposition on the part of takers to accept any but first class paper. Some German bills were offered and passed at 49¼. There are a few very heavy takers by the packet.

Paper money continues to be in very active demand, and gold is felt to be more abundant; but the political aspect of affairs is viewed with the greatest distrust, although the general feeling on the Bolsa is, that President Mitre will form no entangling alliance with Brazil, nor be betrayed into an indiscretion which might compromise the peace of the country.

A subscription was got up by Mr. Rom and Mr. Haynes for the families of the Retiro victims. Over $800 was subscribed for at once.

In the wool market there is very little animation, and purchasers are waiting the arrival of the packet. The wool sold last Wednesday at 106, we understand was Mr. White's, of Canuelas, and sold baled and deliverable in Barracas. Sr. Dorrego's wool, some 6000 ar., was sold at 88. The arrivals of wool are still very heavy.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m till Three p.m on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1863.

TOBACCO de la PALMA,

Derives its name from the circumstance of "the secret in its preparation" having been first revealed to a lone traveller (by an Indian) while reclining at the foot of three palm trees, resting from the fatigue of a hard day's ride

It is an article entirely different from any other in present use, and solely manufactured by the undersigned at their Steam Tobacco Factory.

Containing no Paraguay Tobacco it is free from that peculiar bitterness usually contained in Tobacco heretofore manufactured in this country for "pipe" use, while its strength is comparable with that of the American Tobacco.

Beng nicely cut, it prevents this unnecessary trouble to the consumer, and packed in "tins," of convenient size with adjustable covers, there is less to fear from drying than with other Tobaccos.

Owing to the high price of American Tobacco we consider this as an excellent substitute, and would particularly call the attention of those residing in the camp to the economy and advantage to be derived in the purchase of this article.

In consequence of the numerous applications made for this Tobacco, in "packages," the manufacturers have concluded arrangements whereby, in the future, they will be able to dispatch packages of 1 lb each.

At the manufactory will also be found Tobacco-fuerte-colorado picado para cigarillos, nicely enclosed in packages of ½ lb. each; an excellent and convenient article for camp use.

Tobacco Frances of the best quality and at an exceedingly low price.

Having also the best and most convenient machinery in town for the cutting of Tobacco Negro, those who require large quantities cut with quick despatch and well done will find it decidedly to their advantage to patronize this Establishment.
